

Description

The second ERUA summit will take place at Paris 8 University on November 08th. This year's summit theme is :

Innovation in the reformist spirit of ERUA

This summit is the occasion to gather the entire ERUA community, which currently includes 5 European universities (Paris 8 University, the New Bulgarian University, Roskilde University, the University of Konstanz and the University of the Aegean) and their associates, as well as other alliances and relevant actors of the European Higher Education and Research Area.

ERUA wants to be a reforming educational institution promoting the critical function of universities through reflection and offering an alternative to current educational models. Together we aim to shape a more just, open and inclusive society!

Call for artistic contributions

As part of this conference, ERUA wishes to punctuate the program with artistic sequences provided by members of its community.

This is therefore an open call to faculty members, administrative staff and students of ERUA's 5 partner universities and their associates.

Eligible applications

The proposed performances must be related to the theme of the summit and highlight the reformist and committed dimension of art, as it is taught and applied within ERUA member universities.

The format of the artistic performance is free and ERUA strongly encourages joint applications bringing together audiences from several of the partner universities.

We also welcome submissions from people who are not connected to an ERUA institution, but are interested in the summit's theme as well as alternative and innovated approaches to higher education.
