

Open Call for Lecturers

Winter School

European Identities 2023

This Year's Focus Topic: European Migration

Join the Winter School "European Identities" 2023 as a lecturer!

Build international networks! Gain teaching experience! Share your research!

What is the Winter School "European Identities" 2023 about?

The Winter School "European Identities" is designed for 25-30 ERUA Master students who seek to learn about discourses regarding transnational concepts and perspectives on European identities. In an interdisciplinary seminar, workshops and group projects, participants will receive an overview of the historical, political, and cultural framework of European integration and discuss recent challenges European society is facing. The question of a collective European identity and how it is shaped by present developments works as a guiding thread for this Winter School.

This year's focus topic will be on (European) Migration.

How can you teach at the Winter School 2023?

Featuring a highly interdisciplinary topic that combines all social sciences and humanities, we welcome intensive course proposals from all disciplines. We are also open to new and innovative teaching formats including co-teaching, hybrid or virtual teaching, film screenings, panel discussions, ted talks etc.

The language of the Winter School is English.

The Winter School an initiative of ERUA, the European Reform University Alliance, and will be held from February 24th 2023 to March 3rd 2023 at the University of Konstanz.

Travel and accommodation costs can be covered by Erasmus+ Teaching Staff Mobility. All lecturers will receive a teaching certificate and free admission to all cultural excursions.

Are you interested in becoming a lecturer at the Winter School "European Identities" 2023?

Send a CV and short teaching proposal (max. 500 words) to alina.2.stockloev@uni-konstanz.de.
Submission Deadline: October 31st 2022.

Find out more about ERUA: <https://erua-eui.eu/>