

Athanasios Lampropoulos, University of the Aegean, Sociology dep. in Lesvos island
First time experiencing ERUA activity
I've been an aviation "geek" since I was a kid and am now learning about flying airplanes. As I've already been a department representative, I'd also like to represent my university in Europe. Also, ERUA provides opportunities for visiting countries abroad and colleagues on campus. Students must open their wings and discover more experiences and academic studies, building their future.

