SWPS University Wrocław, Psychology

No previous experience with ERUA.

I love red tea and penguins. I am interested in social psychology and small things that can make organizations work more effectively. Big fan of Open Science and transparency of research, which I am actually conducting in AI and generation fields. Additionally, a social skills trainer at SWPS University.

I became an ERUA ambassador to encourage more students around the globe to become more Open in science and share their data, research methods to make the replication crisis decrease.
