

Loriane Guillou, political sciences master's degree, culture and politics)

previous experience with ERUA :

I went to a seminar in Warsaw, which was titled “Europe in the face of war” and centered on the European reactions to the invasion of Ukraine. It was three amazing days intellectually fulfilling, by getting to know different researchers, each more passionate than the other.

Hobbies :

I have also always loved reading a lot, both as an escapism and as a way of getting to know more about the world. My special interest in books currently is in my master’s dissertation : I’m working on anarchist activism in punk culture, therefore I am vastly enriching my knowledge on punk-rock music through books and fanzines. Also, once a week, I do horse riding -thanks to a partnership between the university and an equestrian center. It helps me put some stress away.

why ERUA ambassador :

I became student ambassador for ERUA because I believe in the utmost importance of academic research, of questioning the world, and of granting access to culture and knowledge to everyone, especially in the current times. To me, ERUA represents that throughout Europe. Moreover, I want to become a professor researcher and ERUA could be an entry point for me, while also allowing me to make research more accessible to any student.
