

Melika Khangholi

Melika Khangholi. Università di Macerata. International, European, and Comparative Legal Studies (IECoLS, 1st year).

I do not have any previous experiences with the ERUA.

In my free time, I like to dive into the world of fiction, or listen to songs that make me happy. I'm very passionate about new cultures, and love to meet new people and learn their languages and cultures from them. You can also find me reading the News and other people's opinions on politics to pass my time.

I'm an international student in a major regarding international law. I love meeting new people and communicating with them, connecting with them and working on projects alongside them if possible. In addition to this, I am also very interested in different roles and possibilities and experiences. I feel like these two are the most prominent reasons why I applied for this role, and I hope to be able to fulfill my responsibilities properly.
