ERUA Student Ambassador

Field of Studies: Phd-candidate in German Studies

Hobbies and interests: My interests center on comparative literature, German studies, languages and cultural mediation, the same fields that define ERUA's academic identity. I am committed to multilingual, cross-border exchange in the humanities, which is at the heart of both my research and the alliance's mission.

Motivation to become an ambassador for ERUA:

I became an ERUA ambassador because the alliance reflects the kind of European university I believe in: open, multilingual, and grounded in the humanities and the arts. I would like to help make its values of openness, diversity and critical thinking visible to other students. What inspires me is the idea that cooperation across European universities can offer fresh, interdisciplinary answers to the challenges of our time!
